BestPart: You can check it all out for FREE if you like!

There is no doubt... technology has made all of our lives better... and easier. Just about every miraculous medical cure and comfort of modern living can be attributed to amazing breakthroughs in technology.

Heck, laser eye surgery can give people who are almost as blind as a bat perfect 20/20 vision. How amazing is that?

That's why it's no surprise that technology might be able to solve your back and neck pain from herniated/bulging discs or sciatica... for good.

Here is why: Back and neck pain can be devastating. And nothing is worse than going to doctor after doctor... trying treatment after treatment... spending money you can't afford... and still suffering in pain. That's why...

I bet you would love to instantly end your pain... without any risk whatsoever... and have it never come back for the rest of your life?

Well, that might NOT be so easy. But, what if there was a wonderful advancement in technology that, with a handful of simple, non-invasive treatments, could possibly have you out of pain and on your way to healing naturally?

Better yet, what if this technology could possibly heal your herniated/bulging discs (instead of cutting it out like surgery) so you have the best chance to live pain-free and do all the things you want and love to do?

And what if this technology was:

✓ FDA cleared!

✓ Proven safe and effective!

✓ Allows your herniated discs to heal naturally without the risky and dangerous side effects of surgery!

✓ Relieves pain fast... in some cases in as little as 25 minutes!

Well, guess what? There is such technology and there is a very good chance it can help you... like it has already helps thousands of herniated/bulging disc and sciatica sufferers all around the country...

No Matter How Bad Your Pain Is, How Long You've Been Suffering Or How Many Other Treatments And Doctors Have Failed You!

Don't laugh. It's really true. Here's proof...

When you have a herniated disc, compressive forces cause your spinal bones to come together... basically squashing your disc. The space in between your bones decreases and the soft, jelly-like disc material leaks out.

This disc material that leaks out is called a herniated disc and can cause severe pain, numbness and tingling in your neck, back, arms or legs when the herniation pushes into and "pinches" a nerve.

So it makes sense, if you could slightly pull the spinal bones apart... that would open up the space, take the pressure off the disc, the disc off the nerve and solve the problem. Right? But the only problem is... how do you do that? For years and years, doctors have been trying to do it with traction.

But traction has been proven ineffective and often very painful. Why?

Traction doesn't work because when you have a herniated or bulging disc, the area is injured and when you try to move, your muscles go into spasm. Spasm is your body's way of trying to protect you from causing further injury. That's why traction hurts so much. As soon as the traction starts... your muscles overprotect the area and spasm.

But the good news is: Now there is technology that out-smarts your body's natural spasm reaction. In other words: It fools mother nature!

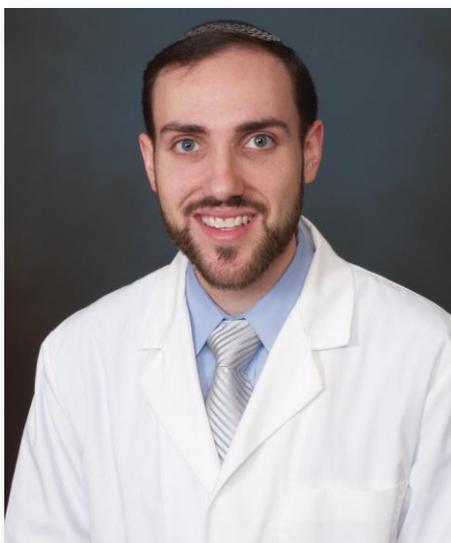

This technology is called non-surgical spinal decompression (NSSD) and here's how it works...

NSSD is very different from plain traction because it has advanced computer technology that actually senses your spinal muscles. When it starts to gently pull, it immediately knows when your muscles start to contract and it stops pulling. As soon as your muscles relax, it starts pulling again.

The amazing thing is: the computer senses your muscles contraction so early... you don't even feel what is going on. Which means you never feel any pain! In fact, the only thing most patients feel is... RELIEF!!!

But the best part is: NSSD is able to gently separate your spinal bones which, in many cases, actually sucks the herniated disc material back into the disc where it belongs! This takes away your pain and allows your herniated and bulging discs to heal naturally!

And check this out: Treatments are pleasant and simple. All you have to do is lie on your back, listen to your favorite music, read a magazine... or... take a nap! The wonderful technology does everything while you simply RELAX the pain away!

Dr. Jonathan Donath DC, MS.

To sum up NSSD:

- For most patients it is 100% painless...
in fact many patients actually fall asleep during treatment!
- Works fast! Most patients get relief after a handful of treatments – some after the very first!
- Is non-invasive so it does not have the dangerous risks of surgery!
- Gets to the root cause of the problem and helps it heal naturally!

Isn't modern technology wonderful? And wouldn't you like to...

Give This Great Technology A Try... For Free?

If you would, there's great news. There is a Doctor located at 222 Westchester Ave., Suite 405, White Plains, New York 10604, who has invested hundreds of thousands of dollars in this wonderful technology and has been treating herniated/bulging disc and sciatica patients with incredible success.

His name is Dr. Jonathan Donath DC, MS and he is so excited about the results he's been getting, he would like to share it with as many pain sufferers as possible.

Ontheright: healthy disc.

Center: Herniated disc with soft disc material leaking out.

Ontheleft: Herniated disc material compressing or "pinching" nerve.

But There Is A Catch...

There's always a catch... isn't there? Even though this technology has helped a majority of the patients Dr. Donath has treated... it is not a wonder cure and it does not help everyone.

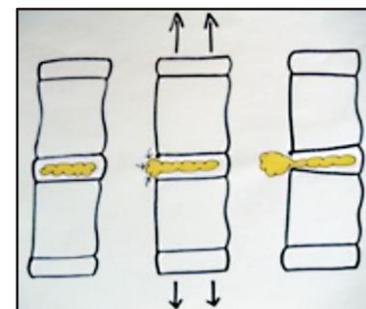

For that reason, Dr. Donath does a complete examination on every potential patient and only accepts you if he feels you are most likely to get the pain relief and outcome you are looking for.

Dr. Donath's Special Deal For You!

On right: Herniated disc with spinal bones "squished" together.

Center: NSSD slightly pulls the spinal bones apart, opens up the disc space and allows herniated material to move back into the disc.

Left: Herniated material completely back in center of disc allows the disc to heal naturally.

Your consultation and examination should take about 60 minutes. During this time you can get all of your questions answered in a warm and friendly environment. You will know exactly what's causing your pain and the best possible way to solve it. Dr. Donath will explain to you all your possible options along with his recommendations so you can make the best choice for YOU.
